

Depression

muziek: Marco van den Bovenkamp, Frans de Meijer & Harmen Nuesink; tekst: Frans de Meijer (©1990)

intro

In Eastern Germany something strange has happened, after forty years they are breaking down,
breaking down the wall.

couplet I

Is there an achievement,
first being poor in the east, than unemployed in the west?
Of standing in line, wasting your time,
for a package of butter.

couplet II

Will they be treated as beggars, their poor brothers and sisters returning home.
Will they become one western nation?
"Deutschland, Ein Deutschland", is that what they want?

refrein

But will it give people that what they wanted,
they can speak free in Berlin town,
and Kommunismus is making place,
for a so called democracation.

refrein

But will it give people that what they wanted,
they can speak free in Berlin town,
and Kommunismus is making place,
for a so called democracation.

brug

The Soviets show that they're changing their policy.
Perestroika has effected the way of living, in Eastern Germany.

couplet III

Is there an achievement,
first being poor in the east, than unemployed in the west?
Of standing in line, wasting your time,
for a package of butter.

refrein

But will it give people that what they wanted,
they can speak free in Berlin town,
and Kommunismus is making place,
for a so called democracation.

